presented by:
THE CLASS OF 1963

FOREWORD . . .

Just as old man river must wind his tortuous path to the sea, we must wind through life, conquering failures, yet with eternal hope and aspirations of success. . . . We start, a small, clear stream, and as we live we learn and achieve. Our path is cut with love and hope and often with sadness, yet one glorious day with the first ray of the morning sun, we come upon the ocean of success. We, the class of '63, present our story; the stream of life. . . .

DEDICATION

We dedicate this book to Vassar Hospital, the great and the small of it; to each and every person in its vast machinery. You have watched us grow, helped us learn, and given us the opportunity to use our knowledge in practical experience. You have shared our happiness in success and stood behind us when we faltered. We sincerely thank you for your earnest support and continual faith.

APPRECIATION

To you Mrs. Sheldon, our class advisor in our Intermediate and Senior years, we express our sincere gratitude and appreciation.

Through your continual guidance and support, you have helped us in countless ways to reach our goal.

PROPHECY —

Fifteen years ago on September 6, 1963, twenty-five students became graduate nurses which is no surprising event as it had happened seventy-four times before at Vassar Hospital. However, the class of '63, just as all other classes before us, considered ourselves unique in our various ambitions and talents. Now, in 1978, we cannot help but wonder what has become of all the hopes and dreams we carried through our years of training. During the past few years we have all looked forward with eager anticipation to our first reunion and the big night has finally arrived.

We find ourselves assembled in one of Poughkeepsie's elite restaurants, Fitz Durr's, popular for the homelike atmosphere created by its owner, LUISE DURR.

The guests have now begun to arrive and the first to attract our attention is BRENDA GUISSLER, the wife of a prominent bulldozer salesman and the proud mother of thirteen children. Accompanying her is ELIZABETH TUTTLE, presently working on her Doctor of Doctorates in Nursing at Yale and the inventor of a new concept in the music world -- the silent stereo. Next to arrive is CAROLE MACKIE, star of stage and screen with her fifth husband, the owner of a Pharmaceutical Corp. To our right, we notice KATHY ECKERT and MARY SCOFIELD, the newly-elected co-chairmen of the New York State program for hospital occupational therapy. Our eyes are drawn to a sudden flurry of activity at the door as ANN MULLALY and KATHY QUINN arrive with their innumerable children. Anne is co-owner of the Dean Phipps Corp., and Kathy has just published her latest novel, "The Secret To a Happy Marriage." Behind them comes CAROLE MOORE, the wife of the Chief of the Spanish National Police and their two sons, Geraldo and Pedro. In one corner of the room we see a crowd gathered around BARBARA SCHWIRZER who is in the midst of demonstrating her new relaxacisor which enables one to sleep twenty-six hours a day. JOSEPHINE PRIZZI and CAROL CAPPILLINO, who recently finished translating the U.S. PHARMACOPEIA into Italian are involved in a heated discussion with JEAN BERINATO, author of the best-seller "1001 Ways to Pass Pharmacology."

Suddenly, two girls in strange garb run by so fast we hardly realized it was BONNIE WARGA and BINNIE BRADY who have dedicated their services to the Peace Corps. They are running to catch the next spacemobile to Ethiopia.

A loud crash draws our attention to JOAN GEYER involved in a rather vigorous conversation with her colleague, SHARON CULLEN. They are obviously enthusiastic about the impending production of their latest educational film, "Socially Acceptable Methods for Releasing Tension." LINDA TRUMAN and her husband, Ronald Lafko, have finally arrived with several specimens from their Florida reptile ranch. At their ranch they specialize in the nursing care for the sick snake. Across the room is EULA CRISPELL who has received national acclaim for her work in the field of poetry. With her is MARY HANSEN who is the Superintendent of the Simmon's School of Auto Safety. RUTH OUIMETTE and JO-ANN LEWIS have just arrived from a White House conference. They are the consultants for the government's new program for "Faster and More Efficient Transportation and Communication." While in Washington, they also promoted their plans for the return of the three cent stamp.

MERLE JOHNSON and Miss Durr are busily involved in "shop talk" at one of the tables. Merle and her husband are planning on a new addition to their chain of summer resorts, popular for their Polish Cuisine. Oh! There goes BARBARA BROWNELL, owner of PEABODY'S Steak House at Dogwood Knoll, rushing over to join them.

As our reunion draws to a close we see DEANNE MOONEY collecting overdue cigarette money. She now owns controlling interest in the American Tobacco Co.

After this exciting evening, we are all looking forward to our new reunion. See you there!

LAST WILL & TESTAMENT

We, the class of 1963, being of sound mind and body, do hereby state our last will and testament: J. BERINATO leaves her flirting abilities to R. Muller, her seat at Fitz's to M. DeGregario and Anatomy to anyone who wants it. B. BRADY will give her scissors to anyone who dares to cut a stethoscope in half on Circle 3. B. BROWNELL bequeaths her "Mountain Music" to anyone with courage enough to play it above a whisper. C. CAPPILLINO leaves her alert, wide-eyed look at 8 A.M. to all sleepy students. E. CRISPELL leaves her worn pencils, a battered notebook, and a train of thought to next year's poet laureate. S. CULLEN leaves her "extreme" exuberance to S. Hornbeck. L. DURR gladly leaves her headaches to anyone who wants them. K. ECKERT gives her soft shoulder and a used box of Kleenex to anyone who wants it. JOAN GEYER leaves her temper to anyone who thinks they can handle it, and her arguments with the world to her "little sisters" to carry on. To the library, B. GUISLER leaves her Mad magazines and her three little sisters are the recipients of her white enamel pail. M. HANSEN leaves her "tenement" conditions to Judiciary. J. JOHNSON bequeaths her speeding tickets to anyone with a car but she leaves Vassar with a dented fender. J. LEWIS leaves her clumsiness to anyone who can trip over air and spill everything within reach. C. MACKIE bestows her little pharmacy to anyone who needs it and leaves the health nurse in peace. D. MOONEY leaves her half band and her number "28" to M. Noone. C. MOORE leaves 1,000 Air Mail stamps to anyone with a boy friend in service and leaves the U.S. 8,000 miles away. A. MULLALY leaves her verbal diarrhea to A. BUTCHER. To K. Vasale, R. OUIMETTE leaves her modesty. J. PRIZZI leaves her couch and uncollected fees to any up and coming psychiatrist and her brilliant wit to posterity. K. QUINN gives her organized ways to an unorganized person and she leaves, married. B. SCHWIRZER leaves her Metrecal with G. Campbell. Her knitting, M. SCOFIELD gives to any constant knitter. L. TRUMAN grants her sponges to those who weren't blessed. E. TUTTLE leaves her love for music to anyone who can stand it and her ability to pad accounts to anyone with a trustee. B. WARGA leaves her Adler elevators to C. Quick and her one night stand at the Nelson House to K. Korol.

And so we leave Vassar and its remaining students much richer and better prepared, we hope!

TO OUR PARENTS . . .

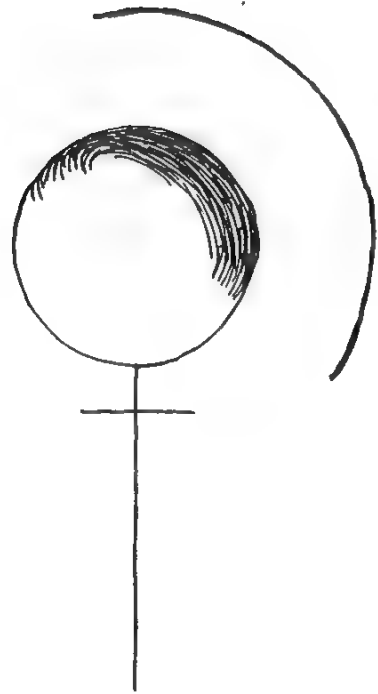

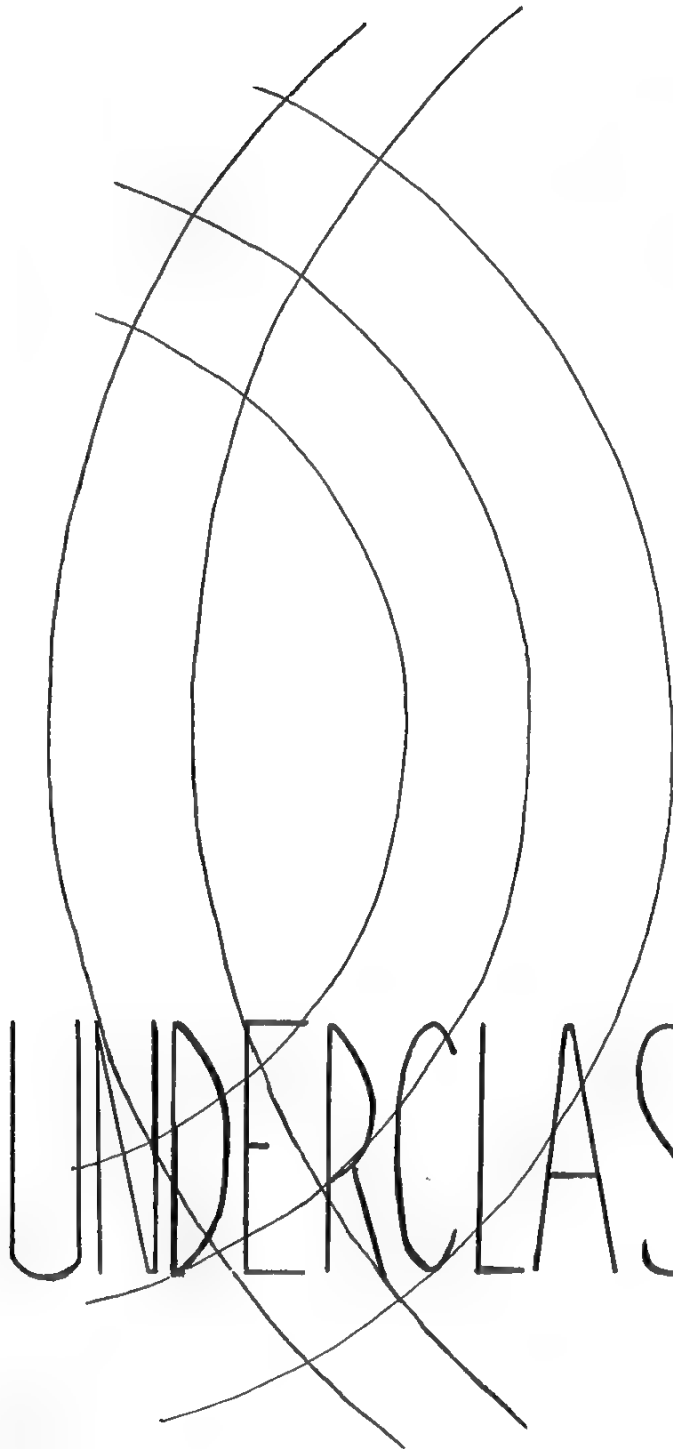

Dear Parents,

Words cannot adequately express the appreciation we have for the vital part you have played in the shaping of our future.

Through your understanding and guidance we have overcome many failures and disappointments; because of your love and support, our accomplishments have taken on much greater significance.

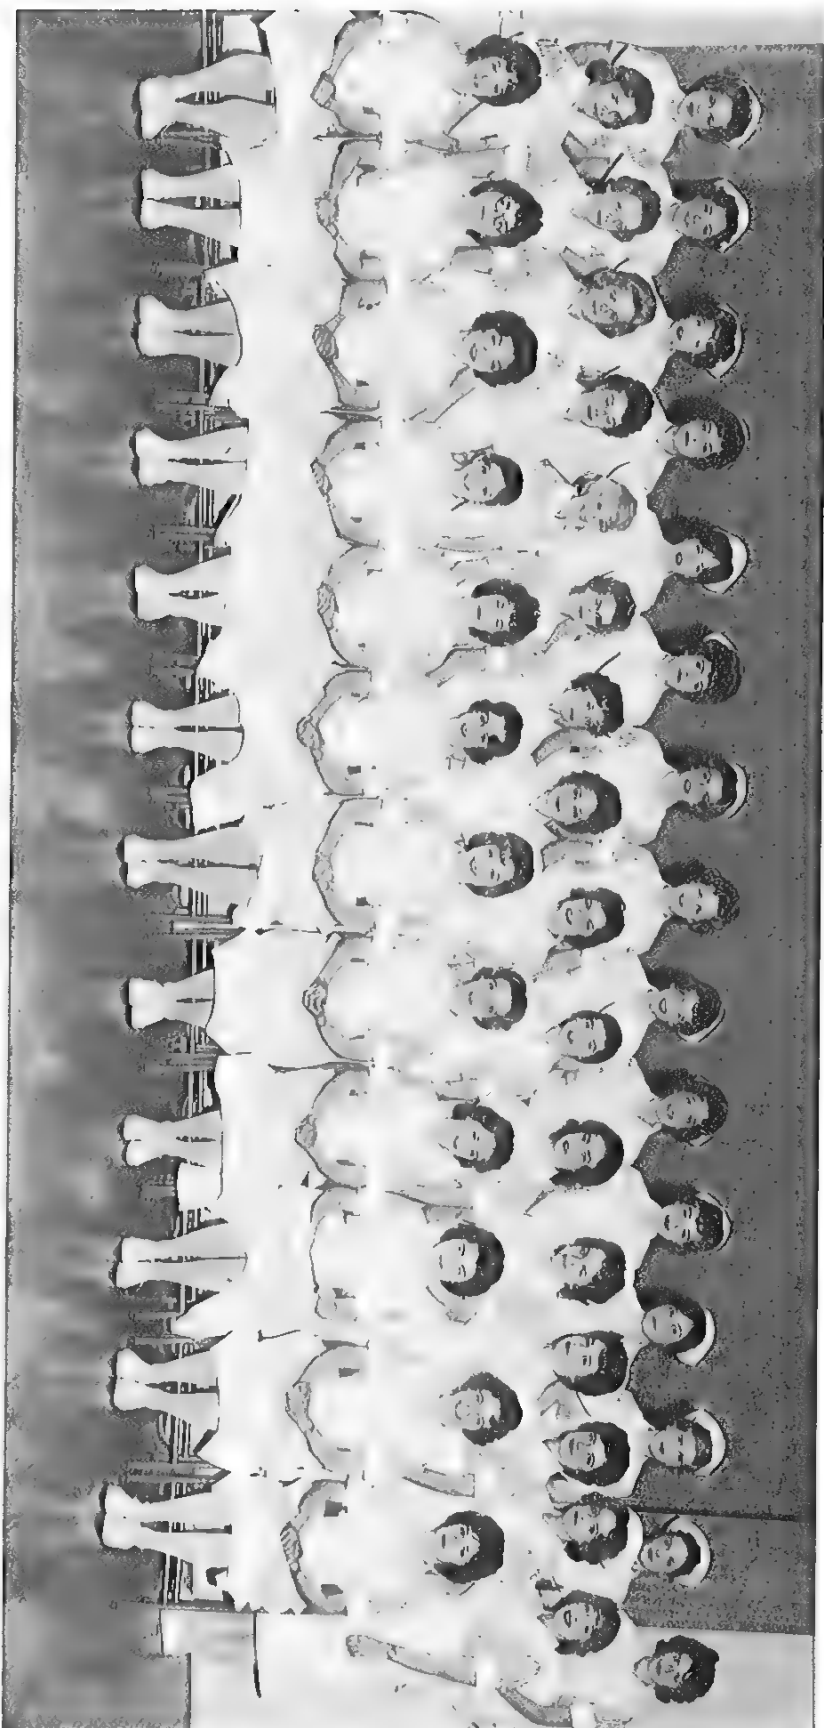

As we stand ready to pursue our career we can only say in retrospect, thank you for giving us a secure foundation with which to build our lives. We shall try to fulfill your hopes for us, each day remembering that without your help, we could not have begun to achieve our individual goals and aspirations.

A MESSAGE OF THANKS:

Dear Doctors,

A few words of praise for a job well done has given us the strength and courage to accept new and more difficult responsibilities. An occasional questioning glance from one of you, has served as a reminder, challenging us to stop, analyze a situation, and then proceed with the knowledge that our work must be done to the best of our ability.

Thus, we have reserved this space in our yearbook to extend to you, the Doctors of V.B.H., a special thanks. Your instruction and guidance have helped us establish a firm foundation on which to build our nursing career.

CLASS OF '63

As you approach the end of this book, we, the class of 1963, approach the realization of a once distant ambition. For us, the stream of life has passed over many paths, both rocky and smooth, and now we face an ocean of new horizons.

To you, the underclassmen, we extend our wishes for luck, success, and happiness. Having worked beside you, we feel confident that you will try, as we have tried, to maintain the respect and uphold the traditions of our school.

To the hospital staff, the doctors, housemothers, instructors, and everyone we have come in contact with during our three years as students, we say "Thank you and goodbye."

Some of us will remain here as graduates and some will go to new places; all of us will remember with gratitude the ways in which you have helped us reach our goal.

YOU ASK . . .

You ask a question. When it is answered or solved, you have gained a bit of knowledge. Having gained that bit of knowledge, you ask more questions because every bit of knowledge implies new questions.

Though education never can be complete for any person; though education continually becomes, in fact, more and more incomplete as the questions one asks become more complex and numerous, it is not futile. It is no more futile than working for some great ideal such as freedom because each step forward in education or in the quest for freedom is in itself a personal reward.

And the similarity between education and the quest for freedom goes further. Each step forward in education takes the thoughtful person a step closer to the greatest freedom of all — the freedom from ignorance which is self-realization.

Education is always a beginning.

IBM takes great pleasure in congratulating all of this year's graduates and in wishing each of you a long and rewarding journey on the endless road of awakening. We bid you to look upon your graduation not as graduating FROM school but TO broader education and greater fulfillment.
